CHURCH ADVANCES PASTORS' SALARIES

Episcopal Convention Hears of Increase in Receipts for Projects

LONG BREACH IS HEALED

Portland, Ore., Sept. 8.—Review of the work of the last three years of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States and plans for the coming triennial session of the House of Bishops and the House of Deputies today at the forty-seventh triennial convention of the church here.

Addresses were to be made during the afternoon by the Bishops of South Dakota; Tucker, of Southern Virginia; Brent, of Western New York; by Lewis B. Franklin, vice president and treasurer of the council, and by John Stewart Bryan, publisher of the Richmond News-Leader.

Bishop Thomas F. Gaylor, who has been president of the House of Bishops and the council, presented a detailed report on the work of the council, which was created at the last triennial convention at Detroit. He reviewed the work of the departments of missions, church education, religious extension, Christian social service, finance, publicity, the nationwide campaign and the women's auxiliary.

Increase Clergy Salaries

The church position fund, he said, reported that salaries of clergy during 1920 were increased $1,418,000 and that for 1921 they were $2,417,000. He said that during the year and a half since the death of the president, the fund had increased $1,417,000. The receipts for general purposes during the year 1920 showed an increase of 117 per cent over 1919, and in 1921 the receipts showed only a slight decrease from the preceding year.

The council financed in large part the cooperation organizations. The council, he said, also implements the regular work of the continental domestic missionary bishops, causing expenditures in 1920 of $308,650, and in 1921 of $768,198, as against $230,092.47 in 1919.

It was estimated that for 1920, in addition to the increase above, the dioceses for themselves increased appropriations for diocesan mission work by more than $2,150,000 and the national bodies for parochial work by more than $3,500,000. The department of mission reported having sent to the domestic and foreign fields during 1920 eighty missionaries, in 1921 seventy-two missionaries, and in 1922, fifty-one missionaries.

News of action, leading a branch of more than 100 years' duration, reached the House of Bishops.

The Holy Orthodox Eastern Church, through its Ecumenical Patriarch, Meletius IV, has announced its recognition of Anglican orders as valid and regular and has set apart the ancient Church of St. John the Baptist in Constantinople for the use of the American Episcopal chaplain, when such is appointed.

The news, and also the notification that the Episcopal Church in the United States was to be invited to send a chaplain to Constantinople, was received from the Rev. W. C. Einarhart, of 281 South avenue, New York.

A gift of $600,126 was presented on a scale of the Episcopal Convention by the women of the church at a Communion service held in Trinity Church. That offering, which is made triennially for the support of women's missions, in the total is about $200,000 in excess of that of 1919.

Sharp competition for the meeting of the next general convention was displayed in the House of Deputies when an invitation was presented from Pittsburgh by the deputies from that diocese. The claims of Philadelphia, regularly and the Rev. Dr. Floyd W. Tompkins, rector of Holy Trinity Church, and ably seconded by Colonel William P. Barba. Other invitations were given by Providence and New Orleans, the latter with the endorsement of the solid South.

The matter was referred to a joint committee of two bishops and two clerical and lay deputies and will be decided later.

English Visitors Welcomed

As soon as the Bishops came down to the House of Deputies to receive the Rev. S. A. W. Johnson, Bishop of New Westminster, and A. J. Don't, Bishop of Kootenai, the official deputations from the Church of England in Canada. Bishop William A. Bell, rector of St. Paul's, made his first appearance as chairman of the House of Bishops, gave an address of welcome. Bishop DePauwer, who served for three years during the war in France and obtained the rank of lieutenant colonel, made a strong appeal for closer unity between the English-speaking peoples.

After prolonged debate the House of Bishops rejected the proposed amendment of the constitution giving suffragan bishops a vote in the House of Bishops. Sixty-two votes were necessary, and fifty-nine voted in favor of the amendment, which was lost.

Consent was given to the creation of three new dioceses. The missionary district of Southern Florida becomes the Diocese of South Florida and the district of Asheville, N. C., the Diocese of Western North Carolina. Consent was also given to the division of the present Diocese of South Carolina.

The delegates to the women's auxiliary from the Diocese of Pennsylvania are Mrs. J. P. Hollingsworth, Mrs. John Marlowe, Mrs. Charles Ponceast, Mrs. W. Pharo and Mrs. J. Allison Scott.

POIRET NOT INTERESTED IN STYLES OF AMERICA

French Dress Designer Now Preparing to Return Home

New York, Sept. 8.—While Paul Poiret, the famous French designer, is preparing to leave these shores because he has been unable to find any new or interesting American-style ideas, August Frankel, of Des Moines, president of the National Association of Retail Clothiers, just back from a trip through Europe, is feasting his artistic senses, started by the ugliness of Old World fashions, to the splendor of American clothes.

M. Poiret left his studios in the Faubourg St. Honoré open-minded and eager to understand what the ladies who patronize his Paris shops wear when they are at home. But he was sorely disappointed, it appears, for he says: "I wanted to see these American designs to take back with me. But I did not find any such designs."

Mr. Frankel did not have any greater success "over there" than M. Poiret had over here. Also open-minded, he wandered around in England, France, Belgium and Germany and critically summed up his estimate of European taste by saying: "I wouldn't give $10 for any suit I saw over there."

SEEK DEFINITION OF IDEAL MINISTER

Unitarian Laymen to Give Point of View of Man in Pew

MEET FOR CONVENTION

New London, Conn., Sept. 8.—A definition of the ideal minister, from the point of view of the man in the pew, will be formulated during the session of the second annual convention of the Unitarian Laymen's League, which opened here today at the Hotel Griswold, Eastern Point. More than two hundred Unitarian laymen are here from all sections of the United States and Canada to consider for three days a progressive church program which includes such topics as these:

"What may we expect of our ministers?" "What do we mean by 'The Freedom of the Pulpit'?" "To what extent are laymen interested in theological sermons?" "How can we apply our religion to social problems?"

Requiring the ministry, efficient church management, advertising, adult education, child welfare, church attendance and membership and Unitarian missions are some of the problems to which the laymen will direct their discussion. Dr. William Laurence Sullivan, recently minister of the oldest Unitarian Church in New York City, and now first missionary of the Unitarian Laymen's League, is here for conference with delegates of chapters of the league under whose auspices he will conduct missions during the coming year.

Since the last convention the Laymen's League has increased the number of its chapters from 242 to 273 and has expanded its field organization so that in addition to headquarters in Boston, district offices have been opened in New York, Chicago, St. Louis and San Francisco. Charles H. Strong, of New York, is president of the league. The vice presidents are Robert Lynn Cox,

WANTS CONSUL RESTORED

Newcastle, England, Asks for Resumption of U. S. Office

London, Sept. 8.—(By A. P.)—A delegation of the Newcastle-on-Tyne Chamber of Commerce visited the American Consulate here yesterday, requesting that steps be taken for the immediate reopening of the American consular office in their city.

The delegation reported that the absence of the American Consulate was causing considerable delay to shipping. The members visited the British Foreign Office, where they requested that negotiations for reopening the consulate be speeded with all possible haste.

Montclair, N. J.; Cyrus H. K. Curtis, Philadelphia; Senator Duncan U. Fletcher, Florida; H. H. Sawyer, Des Moines, Iowa, and Ralph Wilbur, Portland, Ore.
